Meadowslea Romneys & Romney - cross rams

Romneys have been bred at Meadowslea since 1926, and for the last 26 years they have lambed totally unshepherded on our Berridale hill block. The resulting in-built survival sets our sheep apart. They have now evolved into tough, deep-bodied, strong-boned Romney sheep that deliver high performance in adverse conditions.

The Romney ewes are very fertile with great mothering ability. They also form the solid base of our exciting first cross ram breeding programme.

We can now offer greater genetic choices that are proven to deliver increased performance over a wide range of country.

Meadowslea hill country Romneys

- Bred from high fertility ewes rearing top lambs off tussock
- Easy care, unshepherded and high survival
- Top 25% on SIL selected for sale
- All rams micron tested; finer woolled selection available

True hill country type:

Deep body, deep flank, good spring of rib and strong fat covers.

These animals maintain condition easily, are efficient to run, and perform in all conditions.

Wide, meaty back end:

Fast maturing lambs that yield well. Wide pelvis for easy lambing.

Open face, clear points and breech:

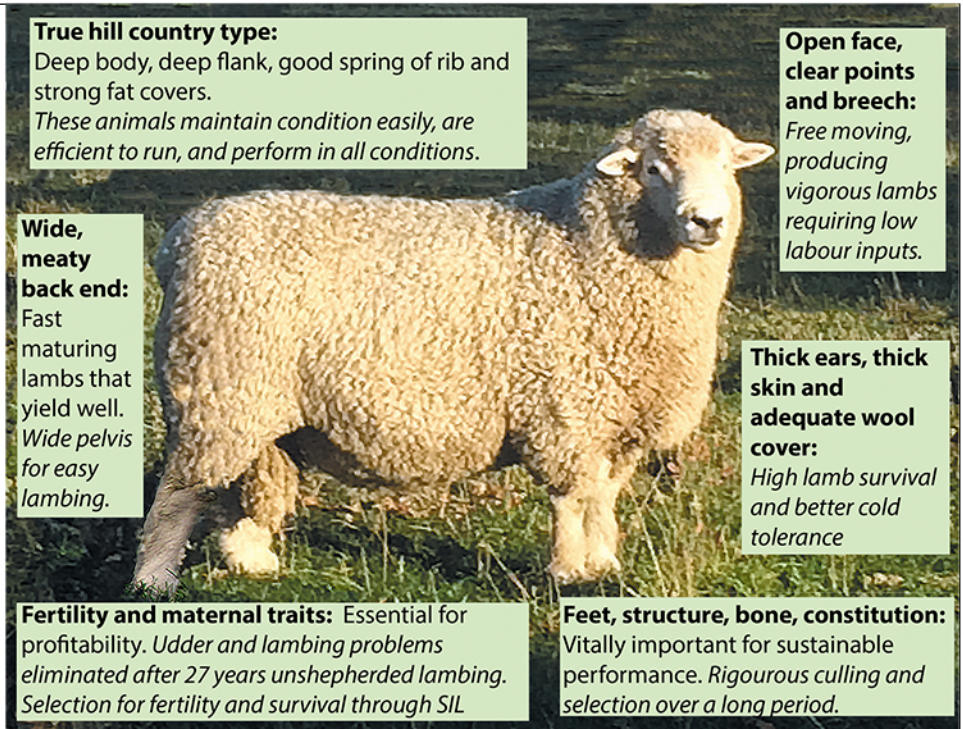

Free moving, producing vigorous lambs requiring low labour inputs.

Thick ears, thick skin and adequate wool cover:

High lamb survival and better cold tolerance

Fertility and maternal traits: Essential for profitability. Udder and lambing problems eliminated after 27 years unshepherded lambing. Selection for fertility and survival through SIL

Feet, structure, bone, constitution: Vitally important for sustainable performance. Rigorous culling and selection over a long period.

kelso. Terminal Tough Hill Bred High Yielding Sire

SURVIVAL + GROWTH + YIELD = PROFIT

- Composite Terminal sire - originally bred using top sires from all major meat breeds, including a strong Texel influence. These were mated over a ewe flock run on tough hill country. Only the best performing of the surviving progeny were retained. We now have 600 of these tough, high performing blackfaced ewes running on our hill.

- Constitution, conformation and bone from Romney stud ewes
- Suitable for tough country
- Clients love them!
